SECTION 04 // EXECUTIVE SYNTHESIS Executive Summary*EXECUTIVE SYNTHESIS

The organization maintains an overall attendance rate of 88.33%, totaling 424 present days and 56 absent days. While the Finance, HR, and Marketing departments demonstrate strong engagement with 107 present days each, the IT department exhibits the highest absenteeism with 17 absent days, pointing to a localized operational challenge that requires targeted management intervention.

SECTION 05 // CRITICAL METRICS

 Key Findings

- ✓ The overall organizational attendance rate stands at 88.33%, with 424 total present days against 56 absent days.
- ✓ Finance, HR, and Marketing departments show identical attendance volumes, each recording exactly 107 present days.
- ✓ The IT department has the highest absenteeism in the organization with 17 absent days, followed by Finance and HR with 13 absent days each.
- ✓ Fatima Zahra, Iqra Malik, and Hasan Raza are the top employees by attendance, each securing 24 present days.
- ✓ The staffing baseline consists of 5 employees each within the Finance, HR, and IT departments.

SECTION 06 // DEEP INSIGHTS

 Business InsightsCORE INSIGHTS

Although Finance and HR demonstrate high present counts (107 days each), they also account for a combined 26 absent days, suggesting a split in attendance consistency within these teams. Furthermore, with only 5 employees allocated to the IT department, its high absentee figure of 17 days suggests a disproportionate strain on technical operations and potential workload imbalances.

SECTION 07 // STRATEGIC REMEDIATION

⚡ Strategic Recommendations

1

Phase 1

REMEDIATION ACTION

Conduct a targeted review of the IT department's work environment and workload to address the root causes of its 17 absent days.

2

Phase 2

REMEDIATION ACTION

Establish an attendance recognition program highlighting top-performing employees like Fatima Zahra, Iqra Malik, and Hasan Raza to incentivize consistent attendance.

3

Phase 3

REMEDIATION ACTION

Design and implement supportive attendance management plans in the Finance and HR departments to mitigate their respective 13 absent days.
